

Qualifications for Lambda Alpha Membership

To be eligible for membership in LAI, a candidate must have both (i) made an outstanding or noteworthy contribution to the advancement of land economics, to a better understanding of the principles of land economics, or to the practical application of such principles in the development, redevelopment, preservation, or better use of the world's land resources and (ii) conducted himself or herself in accordance with the highest ethical standards for his or her profession.